

MUSIC

What can I do with this degree?

AREAS

EMPLOYERS

STRATEGIES

EDUCATION

Teaching

Daycare centers
Elementary and secondary schools
Private schools
Recreation centers
Colleges and universities
Conservatories

Acquire teaching certificate for public school teaching.
Gain experience working with children through volunteer or part-time work experiences.
Graduate degree required to teach in higher education.
Specialize in an area such as music, music theory, composition, music history, etc.
Performance skill on one instrument or voice required.
Develop business relationships with schools and/or music stores to increase client base.

Private Lessons

Studios
Self-employed

PERFORMANCE

Instrumental Vocal

Armed Forces bands and orchestras
Symphony orchestras
Small ensembles
Rock or jazz group
Dance band
Concert soloist
Clubs and restaurants
Church choirs
Community choral groups
Opera chorus or soloist
Musical theaters
Ballet productions
Recording industry
Radio, television, and motion picture industries

Develop musical talent and skill.
Obtain formal training to acquire necessary skills, knowledge, and ability to interpret music.
Ambition and showmanship important.
Join campus bands and choruses, church choirs, and other performing acts.
Seek competitions, apprenticeship programs, and workshops to gain experience and recognition.
Opportunities are very limited. Most performers have other careers.
Auditions are generally required.

COMPOSING/ARRANGING

Composing Arranging

Self-employed
Record companies
Publishers
Muzak
Motion picture and television industries
Production companies

Knowledge of composition, harmony, arranging, and theory important.
Learn how to use electronic instruments and synthesizers.
Develop computer and desktop publishing expertise.
Skill on one or more instruments and voice are necessary.
Seek grants and awards through foundations.
Very few musicians earn living through composing.

AREAS	EMPLOYERS	STRATEGIES
CONDUCTING	Choirs Choral groups Symphonies Opera Armed Forces bands and orchestras	Develop superior musicianship and leadership. Acquire extensive experience in performing groups. Opportunities extremely limited. Gain acceptance into a conductor-training program or related apprenticeship.
MUSIC THERAPY	Hospitals: general and psychiatric Special education facilities Mental health centers Nursing homes Correctional facilities Private practice Outpatient clinics	Take courses in psychology, social work, or education. Earn a master's degree in music therapy and seek certification. Volunteer in a rehabilitation setting. Must demonstrate a genuine interest in helping people.
MUSIC LIBRARIES	Colleges and universities Conservatories Public libraries Radio and television stations	Develop computer and research skills. Gain thorough knowledge of music and musicology. Earn master's degree in library/information science.
RECORDING INDUSTRY Publishing and Editing Producing Recording Engineering Manufacturing Talent Acquisition Promotion/Media Relations Publicity Administration Marketing and Sales Product Management	Production recording studios (most located in New York City, Los Angeles, and Nashville)	Complete an internship at a record company. Take business courses to work in management or administration. Journalism, public relations, and communication classes helpful for work in areas of promotion. Gain sales experience for marketing. Must interact well with people and develop persuasion tools. Knowledge of electronics, audio engineering, and recording knowledge required for production. Work or volunteer at a campus or local radio station. Join organizations involved with bringing events and entertainment to campus. Work at a retail record store to learn about the industry.

AREAS	EMPLOYERS	STRATEGIES
COMMUNICATIONS Music and Program Direction On Air Performance Promotion Voice Overs Copyright/Clearance Administration Music License Administration Music Editing, Production, and Composing Sound Mixing Post Production Research	Radio and television stations Virtual reality sound environments e.g. Internet sites, software creators	Take classes in communications, broadcasting, or journalism. Work at on-campus radio station. Complete an internship at a television or radio station. Develop computer-related skills such as software development and programming.
MISCELLANEOUS Sales  Music Journalism  Law	Music shops Record stores Instrument manufacturers Music-related publications Magazines and newspapers Entertainment law firms	Get sales experience. Work in a retail music outlet.  Take courses in journalism and English. Write articles for campus newspaper. Earn law degree.

GENERAL INFORMATION

- Finding positions in the music industry requires a combination of talent, training, connections and some luck. Perseverance is required!
- Develop competencies in business management, computers, marketing, or other areas to broaden range of employment possibilities.
- Develop a variety of skills. Become "multitalented."
- Confidence, personality, a positive attitude, and a love of music are important to success.
- Need basic tools of self-promotion.
- Some jobs may require you to join unions or guilds.
- Performers often travel frequently and must be flexible regarding their work schedules.
- Majoring in music provides students with a sense of aesthetics and an understanding of human expression valuable to many employers.