

Federal Direct PLUS Loan Application Request 2022-2023 Academic Year

You may apply for a 2022-2023 Direct PLUS Loan on or after May 1, 2022.

Direct PLUS Loans are for the parents of dependent students. This is a credit-based program and requires a credit check to establish eligibility. Interest is charged during all periods, even during the time a student is in school. The repayment period for a Direct PLUS Loan begins immediately after you have received the last disbursement of the loan for that academic year, unless you request a deferment.

The student must carry a minimum of 6 undergraduate semester hours in the fall and winter terms to qualify for a PLUS loan. The student must be registered before the loan will be processed.

- All new and previous parent borrowers must apply for a Direct PLUS Loan through the StudentAid.gov website at <https://studentaid.gov/>.
  - To start this process, the parent applying for the loan must Log In, select Apply for Aid, and choose Apply for a Parent PLUS Loan.
  - If approved for the Direct PLUS Loan, your parent must complete the Parent PLUS MPN (Master Promissory Note).
- To complete the PLUS Loan Application online, the parent applying for the loan must have an FSA ID.
  - To create or edit an FSA ID, visit <https://studentaid.gov/fsa-id/create-account/launch>. This is also where your parent can go to reset their password if they have forgotten it.
  - This is the log in information your parent created to sign your FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid).
