

Position: Adjunct Faculty Member, Health Sciences Department

MADONNA UNIVERSITY is a Franciscan, Catholic co-educational liberal arts university located in Livonia, MI, a western suburb of the metropolitan Detroit area. The growing student body of 4,400 is an exciting and diverse mix of traditional and non-traditional commuter students representing all ages and ethnicities of Southeastern Michigan. Teaching is of primary importance. Faculty members actively participate in university governance and academic affairs.

The College of Nursing and Health offers programs that focus on caring for others through a variety of health occupations. Our mission is to provide excellent educational experiences at the undergraduate and graduate levels for students seeking preparation or advancement in nursing, hospice and palliative care, and health science related professions. The College's programs are based on the Catholic and Franciscan intellectual tradition of Madonna University and foster respectful care of all people as they experience life's continuum of health, illness, and death.

The Department of Health Sciences invites applications for an adjunct position as Adjunct Instructor or Adjunct Assistant Professor [rank commensurate with experience] to teach a course at the graduate level in Ethical Issues in Health Care for the Fall 2019 semester. This course will be delivered in an online format.

Qualifications:

1. Master's degree in Bioethics or other relevant discipline
2. One year of college/university graduate level teaching in the area of ethics is required.
3. Candidate must demonstrate the ability to teach in an online setting
4. Excellent oral, written, and interpersonal communication skill

Review of applications will begin immediately.

Application Process:

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, teaching philosophy, and three letters of recommendation to:

Roger Steele, Faculty Contract Specialist
Human Resources Department
rastele@madonna.edu

The mission of Madonna University, a Catholic and Franciscan institution of higher learning, is to instill in its students Christian humanistic values, intellectual inquiry, a respect for diversity, and a commitment to serving others through a liberal arts education, integrated with career preparation and based on the truths and principles recognized within a Catholic tradition.